

REVITALIZING THE BODY SHOP INDIA: A STRATEGIC GROWTH PLAN

TEAM: CHANAKYA

Executive Summary

yThe Body Shop is a global beauty brand known for its ethically sourced, cruelty-free skincare, haircare, and cosmetics products, promoting sustainability and social activism.

Objectives

Brand Rebranding

Attract new audiences

Channel Optimization

Optimize distribution channels

Market Expansion

In Tier 2 & Tier 3 cities

Key Solutions

Salon Partnerships

Partner with salons to promote products, offering higher margins

Emotional Marketing

Creating campaign like we support farmers and helping nature

Male Grooming

Make a male focus sub brand and we can also do collaboration with companies in male grooming

Sub-Brands

Make a sub brand for Tier 3 market having basic SKUs and in small size packaging and low cost

Sustainability

Sell refill pack at lower price and scale refill stations to boost eco-friendly brand perception.

CHALLENGES

Loss of ethical brand identity

1. Consumers questioned whether The Body Shop’s founding principles of cruelty-free and sustainable practices were compromised under L’Oréal’s ownership, as L’Oréal had historically been criticized for its involvement in animal testing
2. After L’Oréal sold The Body Shop to Natura & Co. in 2017, The Body Shop worked to reclaim its ethical narrative however failed.

Limited presence in Tier 2 & 3 cities

1. The Body Shop has a stronger presence in metropolitan areas and Tier 1 cities as compared to tier 2 &3 cities.
2. Setting up stores in smaller cities can be challenging due to limited retail infrastructure and higher logistical costs.

Intense competition

1. The prices of Body Shop products are not very pocket friendly for people from tier 2&3 cities.
2. Brands like Mamaearth, MCaffeine , and Plum cater to Indian consumers with natural, sustainable, and eco-friendly products at competitive price.

Financial instability & operational inefficiencies

1. Maintaining a premium brand image and operating physical stores in prime locations comes with additional operation costs.
2. Since brand is mainly popular in tier 1 cities and there is limited penetration in smaller cities, there is uneven revenue streams.

Shift to D2C and digital platforms

1. The Body Shop’s traditional reliance is on in-store experiences like product trials and consultations, which may be difficult to replicate online, thereby impacting customer engagement.
2. D2C channels expose Body Shop to extra competition from already well established brands
